Dear

Thank you for your email asking about our British Library catalogue record for the thesis EThOS ID 652034. I am replying to your email as the overall business manager for EThOS.

We hold records in our main Library catalogue for all of the UK theses records listed in EThOS, including both titles where a full digital copy of a thesis is available and also where the record is 'metadata only', i.e. no full thesis is available. This is done to increase discoverability of the EThOS data, and as standard Library practice to list as much of our data as possible in our main catalogue.

I agree the information provided in the catalogue may not be clear as to whether a full thesis exists, but the records always lead to the EThOS record which we consider the 'master' record for theses. I can confirm that records are held in the Library catalogue (as well as in EThOS) for all theses even where we have never held the full digital file itself.

Best wishes
Sara

Dear EThOS,

Can you tell from your MARC record metadata who made the accession to the catalog, when and from where?

Why would an accession entry have been made if no actual accompanying thesis was obtained by the British Library ?

Harvard's HOLLIS catalog also lists the thesis but says the record is from the British Library.
