Hi Refel,

Yes, we've been receiving a raft of vexatious emails on President Tsai's PhD, so we put up a statement on this yesterday to serve as the School's statement.

I suggest you do not engage with the email below, however.

Thanks,

Danny

Dear Ms. Ismail,

I came across a News Article dated October 8, 2019 (<https://reutl.cc/pDMzd8>), contents of which appeared to be rather informal, with respect to the authenticity of PhD thesis of Tsai Ying-Wen.

Can you please confirm if this News Article is an official announcement from LSE and if so, by whom and/or under whose authority?

Secondly, please elaborate and explain the non-existence of her PhD thesis at LSE or the Senate, between 1984 and June 2019. Isn't her PhD thesis a public record, assuming the degree was granted?

Lastly, please confirm if Ms. Tsai paid her tuition for the year 1984, as she did not according to her student record, if such is true, how did she manage to complete her PhD thesis and be awarded the PhD degree in 1984, without paying tuition?

I look forward to your clarification and elaboration.

If this is outside of your jurisdiction, kindly forward this email to the appropriate personnel for reply.

Much obliged.

Yours truly,
